Politics yesterday commanded slight attention. Little wonder.

And yet there was growth in the Western Democratic Campaign Fund. Not very remarkable growth, to be sure, yet sufficient to demonstrate that with the people, now moved by fear of the plague, and now again moved by curiosity as to the wicked pugilists at New Orleans, there still remained interest in the cause of tariff reform out West.

From now on interest in the impending battles of the Democratic party in the West should become more widespread and more enthusiastic. 'The cholera question is important, but let it not dominate. Democratic victory in November is a happy thing to think of. Happy will be he who shall have helped to win it.

Be one of that number. Give of your purse as you can afford, that another vote besides your own may be nad for Cleveland.

STRICKEN DEAF AND DUMB.

Result of a Rope-Walker's Fall on an Orchestra Leader.

A very curious case has just been brought before one of the Rouen law courts. Some time ago a tight-rope dancer was performing at a local music hall, when the wire suddenly broke and she fell from a giddy height fight on the unfortunate conductor of the orchestra, who was so overcome by the shock that he fainted, and when he recovered consciousness was found to be deaf and that the unlucky conductor was only shamming, while the other stoutly and indignantly maintained that there could not be the slightest doubt as to his good faith.

Although nearly two years have clapsed Atthough nearly two years have clapsed since the accident occurred, the London Telegraph says, the unfortunate musician has not uttered a syllable, nor has he shown by the most feeble sign that he can hear a word that is addressed to him. His application for damages, however, has been rejected. In the judgment it is set forth that if he became dumb it was not owing to his "receiving" the tight-rope dancer on his head, but to the he, "saisseement" resulting therefrom, and for attributable to his excessively nervous
